

Jay Holman, Union Pacific Police Department

Originally from Northern Missouri, Jay acquired his Bachelor's degree from Northwest Missouri State University in 1986. He then completed a 4 year tour with the United States Air Force in 1990, working in the Intelligence field. After separation from USAF, Jay relocated to the Kansas City area and began his police career with the Belton, MO Police Department, leaving there in 1998 to start employment with Union Pacific railroad as a trainman. Within a few months, he moved into the Union Pacific Police Department as a Special Agent. In 2006, he was assigned to the field of public safety within the police department on a full time basis as the Regional Police Public Safety Officer for the Central Region, a position he still holds today.
