

Kevin Dawson, UPRR

Kevin's career began with the railroad industry in 1979, working with Missouri Pacific Railroad as a Locomotive Fireman. Within 14 months he was promoted to Locomotive Engineer at just 19 years of age. Kevin's experience includes over 10 years as a labor representative. In 1986 he was exposed for the first time to Operation Lifesaver involvement, which he continues to be involved in today. In 1989, Kevin's career took him to Oklahoma as a locomotive engineer. His involvement with Operation Lifesaver evolved to be the assistant state coordinator from 1991 until 1994. 1994 was a transition year for him, when his career progressed into management with Union Pacific Railroad. Kevin's management career has offered him opportunities to work in many capacities as well as in many states within operating practices, training and attendance, and now as Northern Region Manager Public Safety.
